To install Antora, open a terminal and type:

```
$ npm i -g @antora/cli@2.2 @antora/site-generator-default@2.2
```

IMPORTANT

The `@` at the beginning of the package name is important. It tells `npm` that the `cli` package is located in the `antora` group. If you omit this character, `npm` will assume the package name is the name of a git repository on GitHub. The second `@` offsets the requested version number.^[2] Only the major and minor segments are specified to ensure you receive the latest patch update.
